of interest will be the beer stands, of which there will be a dozen or more. Among these, the principal one will be the pavilion, which is in charge of Mr. E. J. Braun.

The Chamber of Commerce presents a most beautiful appearance. The front is handsomely festooned with evergreens and over the door stands a large harp bearing the inscription, "The merchants of Cincinnati welcome the lovers of art from every land."

The Libretto of the Sangersfest is published by the Press Committee at the risk of the members of the Committee, and is the most creditable piece of work of the kind that has been issued in connection with any of our great musical events. It is a book of eighty-eight pages, compiled with great care, and embodying information of the greatest interest to every one who attends the Sangersfest.

The members of the Corvillie Sangersbund will participate in the procession. Messrs. Remmert, Bischoff, Fritsch and Whitney, the soloists from New York and Boston, have arrived here and are at the Gibson House.

Mr. Edward Todd, editor of the West-Hill Post, of St. Louis; Andrew Weil, of the Springfield (Ohio) Daily Republic; Curt. Heinfelder, of the (St. Louis) Anzeiger des Westens; K. B. Thompson, of the Spirit of the Times, New York; Dr. Gustav Glaser and Louis Colevar, Jr., of the Deutsche Zeitung, West Virginia, are in the city, and will report the Festival for their respective papers.

THE PRESS COMMITTEE will be constantly in session at Nos. 7 and 8, Turner Hall. An arch is to be erected at Vine and Canal streets by citizens in that neighborhood.

No auditing or payment of bills will be made by the Board of Control until after the Sangersfest.

Over four thousand five hundred reserved seat tickets were sold at Church's and Burghelm's yesterday.

Last rehearsal of "Pall" to-night at Music Hall. It will be complete, full chorus, orchestra and soloists.

The public schools will be closed to-morrow. The Board of Education will go with the procession in a body.

From now until the close of the Sangersfest, the Board of Control will be in session at No. 12, Gazette building.
